INTRODUCTION

Language and speaking are two things that are actually different. Broadly speaking, language is a verbal tool used to communicate. Meanwhile, language is the conveyance of this information. Indrayanti (Pranowo, 2014:126) said that teenagers' language mixes written, spoken and pictures, so that everything becomes chaotic. The confusion of language can be seen because language is used carelessly and sometimes emotions are also expressed inappropriately.

According to Kridalaksana and Djoko Kentjono (in Chaer, 2014: 32) language is a system of arbitrary sound symbols used by members of a social group to work together, communicate and identify themselves. The main function of language is as a means of communication between humans. Language is a means of intermediary between members of society in a group and a means of interaction individually and in groups.

In everyday life, humans are never separated from the use of language. With language, humans can communicate with one another, convey ideas, and so on. Indonesian is a unified language used by all Indonesian people in everyday life (Rachman, Ryan, et al. , 2021). Indonesian is a unifying language. Indonesian is the language we use every day and is also the official language of our country. In its use, Indonesian has several rules that must be obeyed so that we can use it well and correctly (Suminar 2016:116).

Now The use of Indonesian is starting to shift, replaced by the use of the language of teenagers known as slang. Interference Slang sometimes appears in the use of Indonesian in official situations which results in bad and incorrect language use. The users of this slang mostly come from generation Z (Rachman, Nurgiansah , et al. , 2021). Generation Z is generation born around 1996-2010 , aged 11 - 25 years in 2011. Students is at in range age generation and constitute part from generation Z.

According to Nurhasanah (Swandy, 2017:4) slang is a language style which is a development or modification of various languages, including Indonesian, so that slang does not have a definite linguistic style structure. The phenomenon of using slang is not only the result of modifications to the Indonesian language but there are also modifications from other languages. Slang itself is not only the result of modifications to a language but can also be languages that are currently popularly used by the general public.

Arum Putri (2015: 5) reports that the cause of the current widespread use of slang is due to a lack of love for Indonesian as the national language. The young generation is the main hope to be able to advance the nation in all aspects for mutual improvement. The use of television, radio, newspapers and the internet are supporting factors in the widespread use of slang. It can be seen from several television, radio and social media broadcasts that the use of language is not in accordance with the rules of good and correct Indonesian. Especially the writings of teenagers on their social media such as Facebook, Twitter, Whatsapp, Instagram, etc. which other teenagers can see and imitate. Generally, teenagers absorb these slang words from the conversations of adults around them, whether peers or family.

This article will discuss the influence of slang among Stiepar students Yapari . Slang is informal language that is often used in everyday conversations, especially among teenagers and young people. However, the use of slang in an academic environment can have quite a significant impact, especially in relation to understanding material and communication between fellow students and with lecturers.

The reason for writing this article is because the discussion is interesting and appropriate to the situation of students today, where they often use slang rather than good and correct Indonesian. This research can also be used as reference material for students in the future to write a scientific paper. The difference between this research and previous research is that the results and discussion discuss the use of slang by distributing questionnaires to Stiepar Yapari students online so that the results will not be the same as the research previously.

Slang is also used to not offend other people's feelings because many other people don't understand slang so that person doesn't know what is being said. There were also statements from respondents who stated that it would be considered impolite to use slang. Therefore, they only use slang with their peers. From the data obtained, researchers also found that respondents used slang more often orally than in writing. The reason is that they think that slang is very difficult to read and understand the meaning of, it is too complicated and excessive so that apart from making it difficult for themselves to write it, it will also make it difficult for other people to understand it.

CONCLUSION

Language is an important element of culture. Cultural transformation over time takes place because of the role of language. The expression 'language shows the nation' has been proven. Through language, we can understand the culture and mindset of a society. A person's character can be seen from their language behavior. A person's way of thinking is reflected in the language he uses. If way If someone thinks they are orderly, the language they use will also be orderly.

On the contrary, if the way of thinking is random/disorganized, the language used will also be random or irregular . For uk that , us as a student especially from campus tourism must Can use good and correct language , but No means No know about Language slang used by students era Now . Study this also became description that student Stiepar Yapari everything know about Language slang and use slang according to the percentage of results from distributing questionnaires to students .
